From shelter to forever home! Waggin' Trails Rescue Foundation was founded to help the animals who face euthanasia in the California shelter system. The problem of homeless animals in California continues to rise in this challenging economy. In an effort to help, Waggin' Trails Rescue Foundation was established. It is the mission of our foundation to help the ever-rising population of animals who beg for rescue. We have been transporting animals to areas such as Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Western Canada where shelters are less impacted and these animals are readily adopted. We partner with organizations sharing our rescue philosophy and procedures that speak to a high standard in order to ensure these worthy animals are placed in excellent homes.

Meet a few of our success stories who saved their new owners.

- ## Who We Are

In a word, Waggin' Trails Rescue Foundation is a lifesaver. We rescue and transport companion animals scheduled for death due to lack of space in California shelters, as well as other neglected or abused animals. Waggin' Trails Rescue Foundation has volunteers throughout the state of California, and friends and partners in many states and Canada.

Waggin' Trails Rescue Foundation is run by volunteers, 100% of the proceeds go to the rescue of many loving animals that have been abused, neglected or simply forgotten. Many wait in shelters for a human to come by and take them home.

- ## What We Do

The problem of homeless animals in California continues to worsen in this challenging economy. Now, in addition to our continued focus on special needs animals and our foster program, we have been called to act to help the ever-rising population of animals who beg for rescue. In an effort to help, Waggin' Trails Rescue Foundation was established. We have been transporting animals to areas such as Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Western Canada where shelters are less impacted and these animals are readily adopted. We partner with organizations sharing our rescue philosophy and procedures that speak to a high standard in order to ensure these worthy animals are placed in excellent homes.

- How You Can Help

Sadly, California shelters are inundated with animals each day. They are brought to shelters from all sorts of unfortunate situations. Stray animals are picked up while roaming streets, litters of puppies are placed on doorsteps of shelters. Breeders drop off their animals not “up to their standards,” and often families that have no choice but to give up their loving animal because they can no longer afford the food and care they need.

Support Waggin’ Trails Rescue Foundation by attending our fundraising events throughout the year. When shelters call upon us to transport animals that have been in the shelter and are out of time, help us foster these loving animals until the next transport is in place and they may be transferred to permanent new homes in other states.

You can help by fostering an animal when their time is up at the shelter until the next transport is organized. You can help with visits to vets prior to transports. You can help with a donation to Waggin’ Trails Rescue Foundation and attending our fundraising events throughout the year.

If you’d like to volunteer or learn more about when our fun fundraising events take place, please contact us by email:
